

CITY OF FLORENCE WALK OF HONOR

INDUCTEES AND THEIR ACHIEVEMENTS

(ALPHABETICAL ORDER)

FRANK PERRON ACHORN

Walk of Honor 2011

In 1947 Frank Achorn began his successful work as a chemical engineer in 45 states and 40 countries to feed the hungry of the world through increased crop yields. He later secured eight patents related to the fertilizer industry.

CHARLES CAINE ANDERSON

Walk of Honor 2016

Widely known and admired both for his success in business and for his philanthropy, Charles C. Anderson was one of only 12 individuals in the United States to receive the Horatio Alger Award in 2014.

GENERAL ARTHUR E. BROWN, JR.

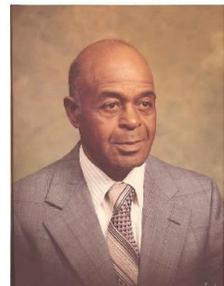

Walk of Honor 2007

A 1953 graduate of West Point, Gen. Brown culminated a 36-year military career as Director of the Army Staff (1983-1987) and Vice-Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army (1987-1989).

JOHN THOMAS BULLS, JR.

Walk of Honor 2009

For 21 years following the end of World War II, John Bulls served as Agricultural Extension Advisor for the U.S. State Dept. in India, Nigeria, Tunisia and Uganda, assisting farmers and organizing community development programs.

NATALIE CHANNIN

Walk of Honor 2014

Beginning in the year 2000, the Cooper-Hewitt Design Museum in New York and the National Textile Museum in Washington, among others, have honored the fabric and clothing designs of internationally known Natalie Chanin.

STEWART ERNEST CINK

Walk of Honor 2011

Winner of both national and international golfing championships, in 2009 Stewart Cink became the first native Alabamian to claim the coveted claret jug as the champion of the British Open in Turnberry, Scotland.

GENERAL JOHN COFFEE

Walk of Honor 2007

Through his personal and business relationship with Andrew Jackson, Gen. Coffee led Jackson's cavalry in the Battle of New Orleans in 1815 and became a celebrated American hero.

EZRA LEE CULVER

Walk of Honor 2007

With a fourth grade education, Ezra Culver employed his own innovative concrete process in major 20th century projects. His construction experience included work on Yankee Stadium, Lincoln Tunnel and the Florida Keys bridges.

OSCAR STANTON DEPRIEST

Walk of Honor 2016

In 1928, Oscar S. DePriest, son of former slaves, became the first 20th Century African-American Congressman from the north. He is credited with the Anti-discrimination Amendment to the 1933 Civilian Conservation Corps Bill.

RONNIE GENE FLIPPO

Walk of Honor 2007

In his 14 years in the U.S. House of Representatives (1977-1991), Ronnie Flippo held such important posts as the chairmanship of the Space Science Subcommittee during the development of the space shuttle, Columbia.

MAJ. GEN. GEORGE W. GOETHALS

Walk of Honor 2007

In 1891, G. W. Goethals, in his role as supervisor of public works on the Tennessee River, reported directly to the Secretary of War. Later, he was Chief Engineer for the construction of the Panama Canal.

WILLIAM CHRISTOPHER HANDY

Walk of Honor 2007

Born in Florence in 1873, W. C. Handy wrote some of the country's most recognizable blues music such as the "St. Louis Blues." He became internationally known as the "Father of the Blues."

GENERAL HUGH PATE HARRIS

Walk of Honor 2013

Hugh P. Harris became a four-star general in 1964, the 66th officer to receive this rank. A leader in the development of the airborne concept, he held such important posts as Commanding General, U.S. Continental Army Command.

CAROLINE LEE HENTZ

Walk of Honor 2007

Educator and author Caroline Hentz was among the first female novelists in America. Her 13 volumes were some of the most popular in the U.S. during the mid-1800's, and her three dramas were produced in major cities.

KELTON D. "KELSO" HERSTON

Walk of Honor 2012

Starting his musical career in the 1950's, Kelso Herston became a leader, playing guitar with hundreds of performers, producing more than 50 recording artists, publishing 100+ hit songs and creating more than 5,000 commercial jingles.

HARLON HILL

Walk of Honor 2007

The NFL Rookie of the Year (1954) and MVP (1955), Harlon Hill starred with the Chicago Bears. The Harlon Hill Trophy is presented annually to the NCAA Division II Football Player of the Year.

DR. ELLEN DORRIT HOFFLEIT

Walk of Honor 2016

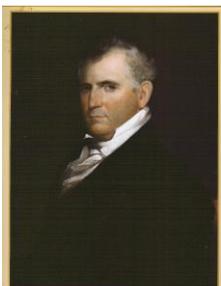

Dr. Ellen D. Hoffleit, celebrated worldwide for her many contributions to astronomy, discovered more than 1,200 variable stars. She authored Yale Bright Star Catalogue which is used in almost every astronomical observatory in the world.

REAR ADMIRAL JOHN HOOD

Walk of Honor 2016

Commander of the Hawk, the fastest U.S. ship in the Spanish-American War, Rear Admiral John Hood then commanded the Fourth Division of the Atlantic Fleet in World War I. The USS John Hood (DD-655) was named for him.

JAMES JACKSON

Walk of Honor 2009

Often referred to as the most successful breeder of thorough-bred horses in America, James Jackson imported Glencoe and Leviathan to the U.S. in the early 1800s, leaving a permanent imprint on both the breed and American racing history.

WILLIAM D. "BUDDY" KILLEN

Walk of Honor 2007

Buddy Killen earned international renown as a music publisher, songwriter, record producer and recording artist. He helped launch the careers of a host of well-known musicians during the last half of the 20th century.

HENRY S. "HANK" KLIBANOFF

Walk of Honor 2009

A keen observer and researcher of the Civil Rights Movement in the South, Hank Klibanoff won the Pulitzer Prize in 2007 for The Race Beat: The Press, the Civil Rights Struggle, and the Awakening of a Nation.

REAR ADMIRAL FRAN MCKEE

Walk of Honor 2009

In 1976, Fran McKee became the first woman line officer promoted to Rear Admiral in the U.S. Navy. A wide range of opportunities for women in the Navy is a result of her personal example and her work on the Navy's Equal Rights Committee.

JUSTICE JOHN A. MCKINLEY

Walk of Honor 2007

First serving as a member of the U.S. Senate (1826-1830), John McKinley was appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court by President Van Buren, becoming the first justice from Alabama.

DON LESLIE MICHAEL

Walk of Honor 2010

One of only 141 American service men to receive the Medal of Honor during the Vietnam War. U.S. Army SP4 Don Leslie Michael received this award posthumously, and his name appears in the Pentagon's Hall of Heroes.

MICHAEL HALL MOBBS

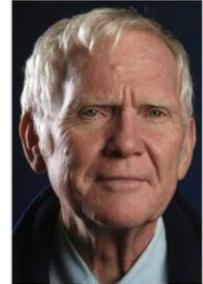

Walk of Honor 2010

Representing the Secretary of Defense at the Strategic Arms Reduction Talks in the 1980's, Michael Mobbs was a leader in negotiations between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., resulting in the most complex arms control treaty in history.

CHARLES LEE MOORE

Walk of Honor 2011

Recipient in 1989 of the first Kodak Award for Photojournalism, Charles Moore chronicled such major events as the Civil Rights Movement in the 1960's South, political violence in Haiti, and the air war in Vietnam.

MICHAEL "NICK" NICHOLS

Walk of Honor 2014

Winner of international awards such as the 1982 Wildlife Photographer of the Year through the Overseas Press Club, Michael Nichols was named Photography Editor-at-Large for National Geographic Magazine in 2008.

DR. ETHELBERT BRINKLEY NORTON

Walk of Honor 2007

Dr. E. B. Norton was a member of the U.S. Education Mission sent to Japan after World War II to advise Gen. McArthur on the complete reorganization of the Japanese School System, which is still in place today.

EDWARD ASBURY O'NEAL, III

Walk of Honor 2007

Serving 16 years as president of the American Farm Bureau Federation (1931-1947), Mr. O'Neal developed major New Deal farm policies in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Administration.

SAMUEL CORNELIUS PHILLIPS

Walk of Honor 2007

Known as the “Father of Rock and Roll,” Sam Phillips established Sun Records in 1952, helping Elvis Presley and other well-known artists launch their careers. He received a Grammy for Lifetime Achievement in music.

JAMES THOMAS RAPIER

Walk of Honor 2007

Lawyer and statesman James T. Rapier, a son of free African-American parents in Florence, holds the distinction of being just the second African-American from Alabama to be elected, in 1873, to the U.S. Congress.

WILLIAM BURCH “BILLY” REID

Walk of Honor 2013

The Council of Fashion Designers of America recognized Billy Reid as the Best New Menswear Designer in 2001, followed by the Gentleman’s Quarterly, the Vogue Fashion Fund and the Best Menswear Designer Awards.

EDWARD STANLEY ROBBINS

Walk of Honor 2010

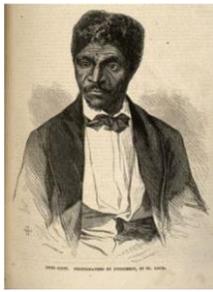

Well-known throughout the nation and the world for his innovative work with rubber and vinyl, E. Stanley Robbins supplied rubber inner tubes, retread rubber and, later, synthetic rubber for the Armed Forces in WWII.

DR. AMIT ROY

Walk of Honor 2014

Named President of the International Fertilizer Development Center in 1992, Dr. Amit Roy distinguished himself as leader of a team to create sustainable agricultural productivity worldwide, alleviating hunger and ensuring food security.

DRED SCOTT
Walk of Honor 2011

Dred Scott, a slave who served as the hostler in Peter Blow's Florence Hotel, waged a 14-year legal fight for freedom that resulted in the U.S. Supreme Court's Dred Scott Decision of 1857, a pivotal event in American history.

DR. LYNN MIDDLETON SIBLEY
Walk of Honor 2012

Devoting her career to reducing childbirth mortality among women and newborns across the world, Lynn Sibley developed a 21st century community-based model for maternal and newborn health in low-resource countries.

BENNETT WALKER SMITH
Walk of Honor 2010

Rev. Dr. Bennett W. Smith, as president of the Progressive National Baptist Convention, expanded the organization internationally. Active in Civil Rights in America and South Africa, he counseled President Bill Clinton on racial equality.

THOMAS SIGISMUND STRIBLING
Walk of Honor 2007

In 1934, T. S. Stribling won the Pulitzer Prize for The Store, part of the trilogy set in Florence. His story "Birthright" was produced in Hollywood as a silent movie and, later, with sound.

LT. COL. R. EDWARD YEILDING
Walk of Honor 2007

After flying more than 90 worldwide reconnaissance missions, in 1990 Lt. Col. Ed Yeilding set a coast to coast aircraft speed record of 67 minutes 54 seconds flying the SR-71 spy plane, which is now at the Smithsonian.